

Important themes from Black History

- Making Black History and Black History Month Relevant Again
- Challengers succeeding in spite of disabilities and disadvantages
- Historical analysis of the crisis in Black family and male/female relationships, and why marriage won't solve it
- Counseling hard-core young Black males
- Addressing the mental health crisis in Black communities
- Understanding and treating depression
- Defeating the S-Traits Syndrome; Over- preoccupation with silliness, sports, styling, slickness, sensationalizing, sex, and substance abuse
- Psychiatry's war against children of color
- Causes, effects, and solutions to Black on black male violence
- The three-pronged strategy for breaking The grip of the prison industrial complex
- Black economic development in the face of global capitalism
- Commemorating the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.
- The social and legal significance of the case of Nathaniel Abraham
- Inquire about other available workshops

Education / Parenting / Black Studies

Readers are calling “RAISED WRONG, EDUCATED WORSE” the most insightful and provocative book that has been written about young Black males since Juanzaa Kunjufu’s 1985 classic, “Countering the Conspiracy to Destroy Black Boys”.

The book examines many of the current social trends that are turning our sons against school and influencing their overall behavior. After reading this book, you will no longer yearn to ask anyone else the popular question, “why do young Black males act so damn bad in school?” You will better understand their behavior and their culture. Additionally, you will know how to pro-actively address their troubled behavior if or when you encounter it. If you are currently raising, educating, or working closely with young Black males, this eye-opening book is an absolute ‘must read’ for you.

Purchase or preview the book online at www.amazon.com

CBM Consulting

Dynamic College Lecture
And Teacher Training
Workshop Series

Training Today's Generation Of Leaders And Teachers

BLIND TEACHER DAZZLES STUDENTS

He works to reverse the plight of black urban males

by Sarah Frame
The Detroit News

CBM Consulting is the educational training arm of the Greater Detroit, Michigan Chapter of Concerned Black Men (www.cbmdetroit.org). Our lead consultant is National Lecturer, Educational Consultant, former Detroit Public Schools Secondary Social Studies Teacher, Male Responsibility Specialist, Assistant Director of the Greater Detroit Michigan, Chapter of Concerned Black Men, Designer of the Advanced Model of Academic Achievement, Community Activist, and University of Michigan Alumnus Richard Clay. Richard is also the author of the book “Raised Wrong, Educated Worse: Addressing The Troubled Behavior Of Our Sons” published in 2005, his newly released book “Market Education: The Planned Destruction Of Urban Public Schools,” and his soon to be released book “Saving Our Sons In School: An Ultimate Guide To Understanding And Educating Young Black Males.”

“Richard and our expert consultants offer a wide range of educational lectures and training workshops that are perfectly designed for college students and faculty members with backgrounds in: education, liberal arts, public health, psychology, business, law, urban planning, and engineering. All presentations include: applicable background information, statistics, handouts, visuals, activity worksheets, small group activities, recommended solution-oriented strategies, and time for questions and answers. Workshops span from 1 to 6 sessions. To schedule or inquire about any of them, call: (313) 247-3301.

Enlighten, inspire, and empower your target audience through the following dynamic lectures and training workshops:

- Student-Teacher Urban Education Orientation and Training
- “Raised Wrong, Educated Worse: Addressing the troubled behavior of our sons”

- “Saving Our Sons In School: An ultimate guide to understanding and educating young Black males”
- “Market Education: The planned destruction of urban public school systems”
- Saving our daughters in school
- K-12 classroom management and discipline planning
- Implementing African-centered education
- Addressing the high school graduation rate crisis
- Raising the bar for our Special Education students
- Getting back to the lost art of Community Organizing
- Preparing to meet the new Black Leadership Challenge
- Comprehensive Leadership Training
- Developing a Twenty-first Century Mindset towards Work and Careers
- Implementing the seven principles of Kwanzaa into our daily lives